A personal note from your astrologer

Thank you for the opportunity to do a reading for you. My goal has been to create a safe, supportive, and completely judgment-free space for you. As you navigate a major life transition, looking for deeper self-understanding, know that I am here rooting for you. You will always be welcome here exactly as you are. You chart indicates that you are a very Blessed and honest soul and my recommendation is that you continue on in your journey with as much sincerity and belief as you have until now.

Question 1

You asked: "I'm terrified of dating because being gay makes me feel vulnerable to heartbreak or prejudice. Does my chart show if I'll ever find a partner who loves every part of who I am?"

First of all, you have a Cancer Ascendant (Cancer Lagna). People with this ascendant tend to be emotionally sensitive, protective and deeply attached to the people they love. You don't just look for a relationship; you look for emotional security, acceptance and genuine companionship.

Looking at your chart, yes, there are indications of finding a meaningful partner. However, I wouldn't sugarcoat things: your partner may have a strong personality, be somewhat dominant, and may not necessarily match the ideal image you have created in your mind. So keep an open mind.

Your biggest lesson in relationships will be learning to distinguish between emotional attraction and emotional compatibility. Don't compromise your identity or self-respect just to feel loved. You deserve someone who accepts you completely. The period between June 2027 and December 2028 is highly favorable in terms of finding your true partner.

Question 2

You asked: "My career is really slow and I feel I am behind in life. I am just surviving. I would like to travel the world, enjoy nice things and be happy. Is there a period in my life when that will happen?"

What you are dreaming of travelling internationally, enjoying a comfortable lifestyle, financial independence and experiencing the finer things in life is certainly worth working towards, and your chart offers very encouraging indications.

However, you are currently running Saturn Mahadasha. Saturn rarely gives instant gratification. It makes you work through delays, responsibilities and lessons before rewarding you with stability.

I see December 2027 onwards as a particularly important turning point. The period after this could bring better opportunities, financial improvement and a more favourable environment for fulfilling your ambitions.

Remember, Saturn's rewards are generally long-lasting once they are received because they come through experience, patience and consistent effort.

Question 3

You asked: "Which career or profession works best for me from an astrological perspective, one that will give me financial success and happiness?"

One interesting combination in your chart is Mars and Jupiter in the first house.

This combination can support leadership, knowledge-sharing, mentoring, consulting, teaching and professions where you guide or influence other people.

I would particularly encourage you to explore:
- Teaching, mentoring and educational consulting.
- Coaching, counselling and advisory roles.
- Content creation, YouTube and public communication.
- Leadership, entrepreneurship and independent consulting.
- Knowledge-based businesses and professional training.

Your potential may be better utilised in a profession where you are not simply following instructions but also making decisions, sharing knowledge and guiding others.

Financial success is more likely to come when you combine your expertise with leadership and communication.

Pride Astro Hub

Question 4

You asked: "Which is the best period of my life? I am 35 years old and really hope the best years are ahead"

I wouldn't consider your current age of 35 as a stage where you have missed your opportunities.

In fact, your chart suggests an important phase of personal growth around the age of 36. However, because Saturn Mahadasha is active, the results may unfold gradually rather than overnight.

Pay particular attention to the period after December 2029. The coming years can help you build the foundation for a more stable, independent and rewarding life.

Don't measure your life against someone else's timeline. Saturn often teaches people to build their lives differently, and sometimes the most rewarding chapters begin after considerable struggle.

Question 5

You asked: "Any guidance you have for me in terms of physical, mental, financial, spiritual and overall wellbeing and success for life?"

If I had to give you one important piece of astrological advice, it would be this: Stop treating survival as the ultimate goal. Start consciously building a life that you actually enjoy living.

A few things I would strongly recommend:

Pride Astro Hub

Physical wellbeing: Establish a consistent routine. Prioritize physical activity, proper sleep and preventive healthcare. Don't allow professional stress to become an excuse for neglecting your body.

Mental wellbeing: With Cancer Lagna, emotional security and your surroundings can have a significant influence on your state of mind. Learn to establish boundaries. Don't carry everyone's expectations and emotional burdens. If anxiety or emotional distress becomes overwhelming, professional support can be genuinely helpful.

Financial wellbeing: Saturn Mahadasha demands financial discipline. Focus on building savings, developing multiple income streams and avoiding impulsive financial decisions. Your goal should be to create assets and long-term security rather than simply increasing your lifestyle expenses.

Spiritual wellbeing: Develop a consistent spiritual practice. Meditation, mantra chanting, prayer or spending time in nature can help you develop inner stability. Spirituality should make you stronger, not make you feel guilty about your desires.

Personal growth: Don't wait until everything becomes perfect to start enjoying life. Travel when financially sensible, meet new people, learn new skills and explore different cultures. You don't have to postpone happiness until 2028 or later.

Your personal media

Your astrologer included media with this reading. Tap a line below to listen or watch.

Listen to your voice memo (MP3)

Opens securely in your browser — no login required.

Subject to Terms of Service and Privacy Policy of Pride Astro Hub