Relationship Guidance

Choose one pair or personal chapter that feels most alive and set a small shared intention: one honest check-in, one appreciative text, or one boundary said kindly out loud.

If tension rises, slow the pace before solving. Name the feeling first ("I feel rushed / unseen / hopeful"), then ask what would help. That sequence protects connection better than debating who is right.

Keep celebrating what already works. Compatibility grows when people feel recognized for their care, not only evaluated for their friction points.

Attracting a Partner

How does your chart describe the way you attract and approach love?

This chapter reads Venus (Scorpio, house 1), your 5th lord Jupiter (Sagittarius, house 2), your 1st lord Mars (Libra, house 12) and your 5th house (Pisces).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Your 5th house	Pisces · lord Jupiter in house 2	21 Ashtakavarga points (below average)
Venus: Significator	Scorpio · house 1 · 16.7°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.29× · sign 33 pts
Jupiter: Lord of your 5th house	Sagittarius · house 2 · 22.2°	In its own sign · Shadbala 1.00× · sign 22 pts
Mars: Lord of your 1st house	Libra · house 12 · 22.1°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.05× · sign 26 pts

Venus, significator of love, attraction and harmony

Venus · Scorpio · House 1 · 16.7° · in a neutral sign

Venus is the natural significator of love, attraction, comfort and harmony. In your chart Venus stands in the ascendant, so this significator colours your whole approach and is felt personally.

Venus is in Scorpio, a neutral sign ruled by Mars, so its results depend more on the house and the company it keeps. Scorpio holds 33 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.29 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. No other planet joins or aspects Venus here, so it works on its own terms. Venus is a natural benefic ruling the 7th and 12th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house.

What to do. Keep affection active with small gestures, shared meals and protected time for the two of you.

Lord of your 5th house: Jupiter in the 2nd

Jupiter · Sagittarius · House 2 · 22.2° · in its own sign

Jupiter rules Pisces and so speaks for your 5th house: the course of romance and courtship. Jupiter sits in the 2nd house of family, speech, savings and values. The course of romance and courtship is tied to your circle, your resources and the fulfilment of your aims, and tends to improve as that circle and those means grow.

Jupiter is in its own sign Sagittarius, so it works comfortably and gives dependable results. Sagittarius holds 22 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.00 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. No other planet joins or aspects Jupiter here, so it works on its own terms. Jupiter rules the 2nd and 5th houses, a trikona, so it is a naturally supportive planet for you.

What to do. Seek the advice of a trusted elder or counsellor before major commitments, and keep your word on small promises.

Lord of your 1st house: Mars in the 12th

Mars · Libra · House 12 · 22.1° · in a neutral sign

Mars rules Scorpio and so speaks for your 1st house: the presence you bring to a relationship. Mars and Venus also exchange houses (parivartana), which binds the 1st and 12th houses into one story. Mars sits in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so the presence you bring to a relationship is connected with withdrawal, expense and distance. Energy flows outward here; results improve when you protect your resources and make room for privacy and rest.

Mars is in Libra, a neutral sign ruled by Venus, so its results depend more on the house and the company it keeps. Mars is close to the Sun (combust), which can overshadow its own signification until the Sun is also supportive. Libra holds 26 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.05 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. It shares the house with Sun: the Sun adds pride, authority and a need to be recognised. Saturn aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. Mars rules the 1st and 6th houses.

What to do. Agree a fair way to argue: pause when heated, return within a day and never reopen old grievances.

Your 5th house: Pisces

House 5 · Pisces · lord Jupiter in house 2

Your 5th house falls in Pisces, a gentle, intuitive water sign that is compassionate and imaginative, so the course of romance and courtship is approached in that style. Its lord, Jupiter, stands in Sagittarius in the 2nd house of family, speech, savings and values. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Pisces carries 21 Ashtakavarga points (below average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Moon and Mercury: 2 supportive and 0 testing.

What Your Partner May Be Like

What does your chart suggest about the kind of partner you are drawn to?

This chapter reads your 7th house (Taurus) and your 7th lord Venus (Scorpio, house 1).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Your 7th house	Taurus · lord Venus in house 1	27 Ashtakavarga points (about average)
Venus: Lord of your 7th house · divisional, 7th lord	Scorpio · house 1 · 16.7°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.29× · sign 33 pts

Your 7th house: Taurus

House 7 · Taurus · lord Venus in house 1

Your 7th house falls in Taurus, a steady, sensual earth sign that values security and comfort, so the partnership at the heart of marriage is approached in that style. Its lord, Venus, stands in Scorpio in the 1st house of self, body and personality. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Taurus carries 27 Ashtakavarga points (about average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Mars, Venus and Saturn: 1 supportive and 2 testing.

Lord of your 7th house: Venus in the 1st

Venus · Scorpio · House 1 · 16.7° · in a neutral sign

Venus rules Taurus and so speaks for your 7th house: the partnership at the heart of marriage. Venus sits in your 1st house, so the partnership at the heart of marriage is bound up with your own identity and body. You carry this area in your personality: what you do and how you present yourself shapes the results more than outside circumstances do.

Venus is a natural benefic ruling the 7th and 12th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house. Scorpio holds 33 Ashtakavarga points (above average) and Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.29.

What to do. Care for your shared space and appearance as signs of respect for each other.

Venus in the Navamsa (D9)

Navamsa (D9) · Sagittarius · house 4

In the Navamsa (D9), Venus falls in house 4 of that chart, a lens on the maturing of a promise, especially in partnership and in the second half of life. Venus moves from Scorpio in the birth chart to Sagittarius in the Navamsa (D9), in a neutral sign. The finer chart neither confirms nor contradicts the birth chart here.

Compatibility & Connection

How do you connect emotionally and intellectually with a partner?

This chapter reads Moon (Virgo, house 11), Jupiter (Sagittarius, house 2), Mercury (Virgo, house 11) and your 3rd lord Saturn (Leo, house 10).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Moon: Significator	Virgo · house 11 · 24.5°	In a friendly sign · Shadbala 0.69× · sign 28 pts
Jupiter: Significator	Sagittarius · house 2 · 22.2°	In its own sign · Shadbala 1.00× · sign 22 pts
Mercury: Significator · lord of your 11th house	Virgo · house 11 · 23.5°	Exalted · Shadbala 1.13× · sign 28 pts
Saturn: Lord of your 3rd house	Leo · house 10 · 24.2°	In an unfriendly sign · Shadbala 1.26× · sign 32 pts

Moon, significator of emotional bonding and home life

Moon · Virgo · House 11 · 24.5° · in a friendly sign

The Moon describes your emotional needs, receptivity and the mood of a shared home. In your chart Moon stands in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, so its influence is linked with resources, friends and the fulfilment of aims.

Moon is in Virgo, a friendly sign ruled by Mercury, so it works with reasonable ease. Virgo holds 28 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Moon's Shadbala ratio is 0.69 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. It shares the house with Mercury: Mercury adds conversation, analysis and adaptability. Moon rules the 9th house, a trikona, so it is a naturally supportive planet for you.

What to do. Name your emotional needs out loud and ask for your partner's; a weekly check-in works well.

Jupiter, significator of marriage, blessing and wisdom

Jupiter · Sagittarius · House 2 · 22.2° · in its own sign

Jupiter is the natural significator of marriage, blessing, wisdom and commitment. In your chart Jupiter stands in the 2nd house of family, speech, savings and values, so its influence is linked with resources, friends and the fulfilment of aims.

Jupiter rules the 2nd and 5th houses, a trikona, so it is a naturally supportive planet for you. Sagittarius holds 22 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.00.

What to do. Take up a shared learning or service project as a couple.

Mercury, significator of communication and understanding

Mercury · Virgo · House 11 · 23.5° · exalted

Mercury governs conversation, humour and how well you and a partner understand each other. In your chart Mercury stands in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, so its influence is linked with resources, friends and the fulfilment of aims.

Mercury is exalted in Virgo, one of its strongest positions, which lifts the results of everything it rules. Virgo holds 28 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 1.13 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. It shares the house with Moon: the Moon adds sensitivity, mood and a need for emotional reassurance. Mercury rules the 8th and 11th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation.

What to do. Say plainly what you expect, listen without preparing a reply, and write down agreements about money and family.

Lord of your 3rd house: Saturn in the 10th

Saturn · Leo · House 10 · 24.2° · in an unfriendly sign

Saturn rules Capricorn and so speaks for your 3rd house: the courage you bring to courtship. Saturn sits in the 10th house of career, status and public responsibility, an angular house. The courage you bring to courtship becomes visible and active: it is a matter you act on in the open rather than leave in the background.

Saturn is in Leo, an unfriendly sign ruled by Sun, so it works harder and its results come with some friction. Leo holds 32 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.26 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Jupiter aspects it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Saturn is a natural malefic ruling the 3rd and 4th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as neutral to helpful, because the pivot-house lordship tempers a harsh planet.

What to do. Treat commitment as a daily practice: reliability counts for more than grand gestures, and seriousness is not coldness.

Lord of your 11th house: Mercury in the 11th

Mercury · Virgo · House 11 · 23.5° · exalted

Mercury rules Virgo and so speaks for your 11th house: the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner. Mercury sits in its own house, so the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner is handled directly and in your own style. A lord in its own house keeps this area self-contained: it holds steady without much outside help and is hard to dislodge.

Mercury rules the 8th and 11th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation. Virgo holds 28 Ashtakavarga points (about average) and Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 1.13.

What to do. Keep humour in daily talk and settle practical questions in writing.

Intimacy & Emotional Connection

What does your chart say about intimacy, trust and emotional depth?

This chapter reads your 8th lord Mercury (Virgo, house 11), Mars (Libra, house 12), your 8th house (Gemini) and your 12th lord Venus (Scorpio, house 1).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Your 8th house	Gemini · lord Mercury in house 11	28 Ashtakavarga points (about average)
Mercury: Lord of your 8th house	Virgo · house 11 · 23.5°	Exalted · Shadbala 1.13× · sign 28 pts
Mars: Significator · in your 12th house	Libra · house 12 · 22.1°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.05× · sign 26 pts
Venus: Lord of your 12th house	Scorpio · house 1 · 16.7°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.29× · sign 33 pts
Sun: In your 12th house	Libra · house 12 · 10.5°	Debilitated · Shadbala 0.83× · sign 26 pts

Lord of your 8th house: Mercury in the 11th

Mercury · Virgo · House 11 · 23.5° · exalted

Mercury rules Gemini and so speaks for your 8th house: the depth of intimacy and trust. Because Mercury occupies the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, the depth of intimacy and trust is linked to your network and your gains. It benefits from practical planning and from supportive people around you.

Mars, significator of desire and drive

Mars · Libra · House 12 · 22.1° · in a neutral sign

Mars governs desire, drive and how disagreements are handled, and it is the planet checked for Manglik influence. In your chart Mars stands in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so its influence works quietly, in private and often at a distance.

Mars rules the 1st and 6th houses. Libra holds 26 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.05.

What to do. Channel surplus energy into exercise or a shared project rather than into friction.

Your 8th house: Gemini

House 8 · Gemini · lord Mercury in house 11

Your 8th house falls in Gemini, a curious, quick air sign that thrives on conversation and variety, so the depth of intimacy and trust is approached in that style. Its lord, Mercury, stands in Virgo in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Gemini carries 28 Ashtakavarga points (about average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Jupiter: 1 supportive and 0 testing.

Lord of your 12th house: Venus in the 1st

Venus · Scorpio · House 1 · 16.7° · in a neutral sign

Venus rules Libra and so speaks for your 12th house: the sacrifice a relationship asks for. Venus and Mars also exchange houses (parivartana), which binds the 12th and 1st houses into one story. With the lord of your 12th house in the ascendant, the sacrifice a relationship asks for sits close to the self. You feel it personally and take it on yourself, and your own initiative decides how it unfolds.

Sun in your 12th house

Sun · Libra · House 12 · 10.5° · debilitated

Sun sits in Libra in your 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, which governs the sacrifice a relationship asks for. The Sun shows the pride, authority and sense of self you bring to a partnership. A malefic here brings intensity and tests, and asks for more care than a gentle planet would.

Sun is debilitated in Libra, which weakens its natural ease: results come through effort and improve when other factors in the chart support it. The weakness is partly cancelled (neecha bhanga) because Venus, the ruler of Libra, stands in an angular position. Libra holds 26 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Sun's Shadbala ratio is 0.83 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. It shares the house with Mars: Mars adds drive, heat and a tendency to react quickly. Saturn aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. Sun is a natural malefic ruling the 10th (angular) house; tradition treats this as neutral to helpful, because the pivot-house lordship tempers a harsh planet.

What to do. Share decisions rather than leading every one, and thank your partner for what they carry.

Mars in your 12th house

Mars · Libra · House 12 · 22.1° · in a neutral sign

Mars sits in Libra in your 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, which governs the sacrifice a relationship asks for. Mars governs desire, drive and how disagreements are handled, and it is the planet checked for Manglik influence. A malefic here brings intensity and tests, and asks for more care than a gentle planet would.

Influences on your 7th house

House 7 · no occupants · 3 aspects

Mars aspects it from the 12th house (its 8th aspect): Mars adds drive, heat and a tendency to react quickly. Venus aspects it from the 1st house (its 7th aspect): Venus adds warmth, affection and a wish for harmony. Saturn aspects it from the 10th house (its 10th aspect): Saturn adds discipline, delay and a serious, durable quality. Taken together, 1 supportive and 2 testing influences act on the partnership at the heart of marriage: testing influences outnumber supportive ones, so the house asks for patience and deliberate care.

Lord of your 6th house: Mars in the 12th

Mars · Libra · House 12 · 22.1° · in a neutral sign

Mars rules Aries and so speaks for your 6th house: the day-to-day work of a relationship. With the lord of your 6th house in the 12th house, the day-to-day work of a relationship can feel distant or private. It does well away from the public eye, through retreat, foreign connections or quiet service, and it needs deliberate care with spending and boundaries.

Saturn, significator of commitment and duty

Saturn · Leo · House 10 · 24.2° · in an unfriendly sign

Saturn brings loyalty, duty and slow, durable commitment, and it also delays and tests. In your chart Saturn stands in the 10th house of career, status and public responsibility, an angular house, so its influence is easy to see and to act on.

Saturn is a natural malefic ruling the 3rd and 4th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as neutral to helpful, because the pivot-house lordship tempers a harsh planet. Leo holds 32 Ashtakavarga points (above average) and Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.26.

What to do. Divide routine duties explicitly so that neither of you carries them silently.

Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head), significator of unconventional attraction

Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) · Capricorn · House 3 · 21.2°

Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) brings strong attraction, unconventional circumstances and a hunger for more in love. In your chart Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) stands in the 3rd house of courage, skills, siblings and communication, so its influence responds to effort, conversation and courage.

Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) is a shadow planet in Capricorn and Saturn stands in the 10th house, so it behaves like Saturn and is read through that planet's condition. Capricorn holds 28 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Mars and Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) aspect it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive.

What to do. Check an intense attraction against steady evidence of character, and give it time before you commit.

Your 6th house: Aries

House 6 · Aries · lord Mars in house 12

Your 6th house falls in Aries, a bold, direct fire sign that acts first, so the day-to-day work of a relationship is approached in that style. Its lord, Mars, stands in Libra in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Aries carries 29 Ashtakavarga points (about average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Sun, Mars and Jupiter: 1 supportive and 2 testing.

Results here follow Jupiter's own character rather than being redirected through another area of life.

Jupiter in the Navamsa (D9)

Navamsa (D9) · Libra · house 2

In the Navamsa (D9), Jupiter falls in house 2 of that chart, a lens on the maturing of a promise, especially in partnership and in the second half of life. It does well away from the public eye, through retreat, foreign connections or quiet service, and it needs deliberate care with spending and boundaries.

What to do. Give a partner credit in front of others and let them lead sometimes.

Attracting a Partner

How does your chart describe the way you attract and approach love?

This chapter reads Venus (Scorpio, house 12), your 5th lord Mars (Libra, house 11), your 1st lord Jupiter (Sagittarius, house 1) and your 5th house (Aries).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Your 5th house	Aries · lord Mars in house 11	30 Ashtakavarga points (above average)
Venus: Significator	Scorpio · house 12 · 8.5°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.10× · sign 29 pts
Mars: Lord of your 5th house	Libra · house 11 · 17.4°	In a neutral sign · Shadbala 1.11× · sign 31 pts
Jupiter: Lord of your 1st house	Sagittarius · house 1 · 21.3°	In its own sign · Shadbala 1.16× · sign 24 pts

Venus, significator of love, attraction and harmony

Venus · Scorpio · House 12 · 8.5° · in a neutral sign

Venus is the natural significator of love, attraction, comfort and harmony. In your chart Venus stands in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so its influence works quietly, in private and often at a distance.

Venus is in Scorpio, a neutral sign ruled by Mars, so its results depend more on the house and the company it keeps. Scorpio holds 29 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.10 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. No other planet joins or aspects Venus here, so it works on its own terms. Venus rules the 6th and 11th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation.

What to do. Keep affection active with small gestures, shared meals and protected time for the two of you.

Lord of your 5th house: Mars in the 11th

Mars · Libra · House 11 · 17.4° · in a neutral sign

Mars rules Aries and so speaks for your 5th house: the course of romance and courtship. Mars sits in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims. The course of romance and courtship is tied to your circle, your resources and the fulfilment of your aims, and tends to improve as that circle and those means grow.

Mars is in Libra, a neutral sign ruled by Venus, so its results depend more on the house and the company it keeps. Mars is close to the Sun (combust), which can overshadow its own signification until the Sun is also supportive. Libra holds 31 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.11 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. It shares the house with Sun: the Sun adds pride, authority and a need to be recognised. Saturn aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. Mars rules the 5th and 12th houses: a supportive trikona mixed with a house of change or effort, so gains come with some transformation.

What to do. Agree a fair way to argue: pause when heated, return within a day and never reopen old grievances.

Lord of your 1st house: Jupiter in the 1st

Jupiter · Sagittarius · House 1 · 21.3° · in its own sign

Jupiter rules Sagittarius and so speaks for your 1st house: the presence you bring to a relationship. Jupiter sits in its own house, so the presence you bring to a relationship is handled directly and in your own style. A lord in its own house keeps this area self-contained: it holds steady without much outside help and is hard to dislodge.

Jupiter is in its own sign Sagittarius, so it works comfortably and gives dependable results. Sagittarius holds 24 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.16 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Moon aspects it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Jupiter is a natural benefic ruling the 1st and 4th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house.

What to do. Seek the advice of a trusted elder or counsellor before major commitments, and keep your word on small promises.

Your 5th house: Aries

House 5 · Aries · lord Mars in house 11

Your 5th house falls in Aries, a bold, direct fire sign that acts first, so the course of romance and courtship is approached in that style. Its lord, Mars, stands in Libra in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Aries carries 30 Ashtakavarga points (above average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Sun, Mars and Jupiter: 1 supportive and 2 testing.

What Your Partner May Be Like

What does your chart suggest about the kind of partner you are drawn to?

This chapter reads your 7th house (Gemini) and your 7th lord Mercury (Virgo, house 10).

Factor	Placement	Strength
Your 7th house	Gemini · lord Mercury in house 10	26 Ashtakavarga points (below average)
Mercury: Lord of your 7th house · divisional, 7th lord	Virgo · house 10 · 15.7°	Exalted · Shadbala 1.17× · sign 27 pts

Its lord, Mercury, stands in Virgo in the 10th house of career, status and public responsibility. Moon occupies the house itself.

Gemini carries 26 Ashtakavarga points (below average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Jupiter: 1 supportive and 0 testing.

Lord of your 7th house: Mercury in the 10th

Mercury · Virgo · House 10 · 15.7° · exalted

Mercury rules Gemini and so speaks for your 7th house: the partnership at the heart of marriage. Mercury sits in the 10th house of career, status and public responsibility, an angular house. The partnership at the heart of marriage becomes visible and active: it is a matter you act on in the open rather than leave in the background.

Mercury is exalted in Virgo, one of its strongest positions, which lifts the results of everything it rules. Virgo holds 27 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 1.17 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. No other planet joins or aspects Mercury here, so it works on its own terms. Mercury is a natural benefic ruling the 7th and 10th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house.

What to do. Say plainly what you expect, listen without preparing a reply, and write down agreements about money and family.

Moon in your 7th house

Moon · Gemini · House 7 · 24.6° · in a friendly sign

Moon sits in Gemini in your 7th house of partnership, marriage and public dealings, which governs the partnership at the heart of marriage. The Moon describes your emotional needs, receptivity and the mood of a shared home. A benefic here tends to protect and soften this area.

Moon is in Gemini, a friendly sign ruled by Mercury, so it works with reasonable ease. Gemini holds 26 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Moon's Shadbala ratio is 1.00 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. Jupiter aspects it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Moon rules the 8th house of change and depth, so its results arrive through transformation, research and persistence.

What to do. Name your emotional needs out loud and ask for your partner's; a weekly check-in works well.

Mercury in the Navamsa (D9)

Navamsa (D9) · Taurus · house 1

In the Navamsa (D9), Mercury falls in house 1 of that chart, a lens on the maturing of a promise, especially in partnership and in the second half of life. Mercury moves from Virgo in the birth chart to Taurus in the Navamsa (D9), in a friendly sign. This neither adds nor removes strength; read it with the birth-chart placement.

Jupiter, significator of marriage, blessing and wisdom

Jupiter · Sagittarius · House 1 · 21.3° · in its own sign

Jupiter is the natural significator of marriage, blessing, wisdom and commitment. In your chart Jupiter stands in the ascendant, so this significator colours your whole approach and is felt personally.

Jupiter is a natural benefic ruling the 1st and 4th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house. Sagittarius holds 24 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.16.

What to do. Take up a shared learning or service project as a couple.

Mercury, significator of communication and understanding

Mercury governs conversation, humour and how well you and a partner understand each other. In your chart Mercury stands in the 10th house of career, status and public responsibility, an angular house, so its influence is easy to see and to act on.

Mercury is a natural benefic ruling the 7th and 10th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house. Virgo holds 27 Ashtakavarga points (about average) and Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 1.17.

What to do. Keep humour in daily talk and settle practical questions in writing.

Lord of your 3rd house: Saturn in the 9th

Saturn · Leo · House 9 · 23.5° · in an unfriendly sign

Saturn rules Aquarius and so speaks for your 3rd house: the courage you bring to courtship. Saturn sits in the 9th house of fortune, belief, teachers and long journeys, one of the supportive trikona houses. The courage you bring to courtship is helped by merit, good judgment and goodwill, and the area tends to find support when you act with sincerity.

Saturn is in Leo, an unfriendly sign ruled by Sun, so it works harder and its results come with some friction. Leo holds 32 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.05 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Jupiter aspects it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Saturn rules the 2nd and 3rd houses.

What to do. Treat commitment as a daily practice: reliability counts for more than grand gestures, and seriousness is not coldness.

Lord of your 11th house: Venus in the 12th

Venus · Scorpio · House 12 · 8.5° · in a neutral sign

Venus rules Libra and so speaks for your 11th house: the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner. Venus and Mars also exchange houses (parivartana), which binds the 11th and 12th houses into one story. Venus sits in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner is connected with withdrawal, expense and distance. Energy flows outward here; results improve when you protect your resources and make room for privacy and rest.

Venus rules the 6th and 11th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation. Scorpio holds 29 Ashtakavarga points (about average) and Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.10.

What to do. Care for your shared space and appearance as signs of respect for each other.

Mars · Libra · House 11 · 17.4° · in a neutral sign

Mars governs desire, drive and how disagreements are handled, and it is the planet checked for Manglik influence. In your chart Mars stands in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, so its influence is linked with resources, friends and the fulfilment of aims.

Mars rules the 5th and 12th houses: a supportive trikona mixed with a house of change or effort, so gains come with some transformation. Libra holds 31 Ashtakavarga points (above average) and Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.11.

What to do. Channel surplus energy into exercise or a shared project rather than into friction.

Your 8th house: Cancer

House 8 · Cancer · lord Moon in house 7

Your 8th house falls in Cancer, a protective, emotional water sign centred on home and belonging, so the depth of intimacy and trust is approached in that style. Its lord, Moon, stands in Gemini in the 7th house of partnership, marriage and public dealings. Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) occupies the house itself.

Cancer carries 32 Ashtakavarga points (above average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head): 0 supportive and 1 testing.

Lord of your 12th house: Mars in the 11th

Mars · Libra · House 11 · 17.4° · in a neutral sign

Mars rules Scorpio and so speaks for your 12th house: the sacrifice a relationship asks for. Mars and Venus also exchange houses (parivartana), which binds the 12th and 11th houses into one story. Because Mars occupies the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, the sacrifice a relationship asks for is linked to your network and your gains. It benefits from practical planning and from supportive people around you.

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) in your 8th house

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) · Cancer · House 8 · 21.7°

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) sits in Cancer in your 8th house of change, research, shared resources and the hidden, which governs the depth of intimacy and trust. Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) brings detachment, a sense of past-life familiarity and a need for depth over display. A shadow planet here amplifies the area in unusual ways and is read through the planet that rules its sign.

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) is a shadow planet in Cancer and Moon stands in the 7th house, so it behaves like Moon and is read through that planet's condition. Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive.

Lord of your 6th house: Venus in the 12th

Venus · Scorpio · House 12 · 8.5° · in a neutral sign

Venus rules Taurus and so speaks for your 6th house: the day-to-day work of a relationship. With the lord of your 6th house in the 12th house, the day-to-day work of a relationship can feel distant or private. It does well away from the public eye, through retreat, foreign connections or quiet service, and it needs deliberate care with spending and boundaries.

Saturn, significator of commitment and duty

Saturn · Leo · House 9 · 23.5° · in an unfriendly sign

Saturn brings loyalty, duty and slow, durable commitment, and it also delays and tests. In your chart Saturn stands in the 9th house of fortune, belief, teachers and long journeys, a supportive trikona, so its gifts tend to arrive with goodwill and good timing.

Saturn rules the 2nd and 3rd houses. Leo holds 32 Ashtakavarga points (above average) and Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.05.

What to do. Divide routine duties explicitly so that neither of you carries them silently.

Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) brings strong attraction, unconventional circumstances and a hunger for more in love. Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) is a shadow planet in Capricorn and Saturn stands in the 9th house, so it behaves like Saturn and is read through that planet's condition. Capricorn holds 26 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Mars and Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) aspect it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive.

What to do. Check an intense attraction against steady evidence of character, and give it time before you commit.

Lord of your 2nd house: Saturn in the 9th

Saturn · Leo · House 9 · 23.5° · in an unfriendly sign

Saturn rules Capricorn and so speaks for your 2nd house: the family and household side of marriage. Because Saturn occupies the 9th house of fortune, belief, teachers and long journeys, the family and household side of marriage draws on your accumulated good fortune. This is a protective placement: help tends to arrive through learning, advice and people who believe in you.

Saturn in the Navamsa (D9)

Navamsa (D9) · Scorpio · house 7

In the Navamsa (D9), Saturn falls in house 7 of that chart, a lens on the maturing of a promise, especially in partnership and in the second half of life. Your 2nd house falls in Capricorn, a disciplined, patient earth sign that builds slowly and keeps its promises, so the family and household side of marriage is approached in that style. Jupiter rules Pisces and so speaks for your 4th house: the peace and security of your home. With the lord of your 4th house in the ascendant, the peace and security of your home sits close to the self. You feel it personally and take it on yourself, and your own initiative decides how it unfolds.

Lord of your 9th house: Sun in the 11th

Sun · Libra · House 11 · 3.8° · debilitated

Sun rules Leo and so speaks for your 9th house: the blessing of elders and shared beliefs. Sun sits in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims. The blessing of elders and shared beliefs is tied to your circle, your resources and the fulfilment of your aims, and tends to improve as that circle and those means grow.

Sun is debilitated in Libra, which weakens its natural ease: results come through effort and improve when other factors in the chart support it. Libra holds 31 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. Sun's Shadbala ratio is 0.92 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. It shares the house with Mars: Mars adds drive, heat and a tendency to react quickly. Saturn aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. Sun rules the 9th house, a trikona, so it is a naturally supportive planet for you.

What to do. Share decisions rather than leading every one, and thank your partner for what they carry.

Your 4th house: Pisces

House 4 · Pisces · lord Jupiter in house 1

Your 4th house falls in Pisces, a gentle, intuitive water sign that is compassionate and imaginative, so the peace and security of your home is approached in that style. Its lord, Jupiter, stands in Sagittarius in the 1st house of self, body and personality. No planet occupies the house, so its lord and the planets that look at it carry the reading.

Venus, significator of love, attraction and harmony

Venus · Capricorn · House 5 · 20.5° · in a friendly sign

Venus is the natural significator of love, attraction, comfort and harmony. In your chart Venus stands in the 5th house of intelligence, creativity, romance and children, a supportive trikona, so its gifts tend to arrive with goodwill and good timing.

Venus is in Capricorn, a friendly sign ruled by Saturn, so it works with reasonable ease. Capricorn holds 25 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.19 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Mars aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. What to do. Keep affection active with small gestures, shared meals and protected time for the two of you.

Lord of your 5th house: Saturn in the 6th

Saturn · Aquarius · House 6 · 22.3° · in its own sign

Saturn rules Capricorn and so speaks for your 5th house: the course of romance and courtship. Saturn sits in the 6th house of work routine, service, health and obstacles, so the course of romance and courtship is worked out through routine, service and practical problem-solving. It rewards steady effort and honest handling of small frictions before they accumulate.

Saturn is in its own sign Aquarius, so it works comfortably and gives dependable results. Saturn is close to the Sun (combust), which can overshadow its own signification until the Sun is also supportive. Aquarius holds 25 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.12 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. It shares the house with Mercury: Mercury adds conversation, analysis and adaptability. Moon and Mars aspect it by graha drishti, which is evenly balanced between support and pressure. Saturn rules the 5th and 6th houses: a supportive trikona mixed with a house of change or effort, so gains come with some transformation.

What to do. Treat commitment as a daily practice: reliability counts for more than grand gestures, and seriousness is not coldness.

Lord of your 1st house: Mercury in the 6th

Mercury · Aquarius · House 6 · 6.4° · in a neutral sign

Mercury rules Virgo and so speaks for your 1st house: the presence you bring to a relationship. It rewards steady effort and honest handling of small frictions before they accumulate.

Mercury is in Aquarius, a neutral sign ruled by Saturn, so its results depend more on the house and the company it keeps. Aquarius holds 25 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 0.68 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. It shares the house with Saturn: Saturn adds discipline, delay and a serious, durable quality. Moon and Mars aspect it by graha drishti, which is evenly balanced between support and pressure. Mercury is a natural benefic ruling the 1st and 10th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house.

What to do. Say plainly what you expect, listen without preparing a reply, and write down agreements about money and family.

Venus in your 5th house

Venus · Capricorn · House 5 · 20.5° · in a friendly sign

Venus sits in Capricorn in your 5th house of intelligence, creativity, romance and children, which governs the course of romance and courtship. Venus is the natural significator of love, attraction, comfort and harmony. A benefic here tends to protect and soften this area.

Venus rules the 2nd and 9th houses, a trikona, so it is a naturally supportive planet for you. Capricorn holds 25 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Venus's Shadbala ratio is 1.19.

What to do. Care for your shared space and appearance as signs of respect for each other.

Your 5th house: Capricorn

House 5 · Capricorn · lord Saturn in house 6

Your 5th house falls in Capricorn, a disciplined, patient earth sign that builds slowly and keeps its promises, so the course of romance and courtship is approached in that style. Its lord, Saturn, stands in Aquarius in the 6th house of work routine, service, health and obstacles. Venus occupies the house itself.

Capricorn carries 25 Ashtakavarga points (below average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Mars: 0 supportive and 1 testing.

Your 7th house: Pisces

House 7 · Pisces · lord Jupiter in house 3

Your 7th house falls in Pisces, a gentle, intuitive water sign that is compassionate and imaginative, so the partnership at the heart of marriage is approached in that style. Its lord, Jupiter, stands in Scorpio in the 3rd house of courage, skills, siblings and communication. Sun occupies the house itself.

Pisces carries 19 Ashtakavarga points (below average; the average is 28). It receives the aspect of Jupiter: 1 supportive and 0 testing.

Lord of your 7th house: Jupiter in the 3rd

Jupiter · Scorpio · House 3 · 21.1° · in a friendly sign

Jupiter rules Pisces and so speaks for your 7th house: the partnership at the heart of marriage. Jupiter sits in the 3rd house of courage, skills, siblings and communication. The partnership at the heart of marriage grows through initiative: effort, communication and courage move this area, and it improves in proportion to what you put in.

Jupiter is in Scorpio, a friendly sign ruled by Mars, so it works with reasonable ease. Scorpio holds 29 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.13 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Saturn aspects it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive. Jupiter is a natural benefic ruling the 4th and 7th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house.

What to do. Seek the advice of a trusted elder or counsellor before major commitments, and keep your word on small promises.

Sun in your 7th house

Sun · Pisces · House 7 · 0.2° · in a friendly sign

Sun sits in Pisces in your 7th house of partnership, marriage and public dealings, which governs the partnership at the heart of marriage. The Sun shows the pride, authority and sense of self you bring to a partnership. A malefic here brings intensity and tests, and asks for more care than a gentle planet would.

Sun is in Pisces, a friendly sign ruled by Jupiter, so it works with reasonable ease. Pisces holds 19 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Sun's Shadbala ratio is 1.14 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Jupiter aspects it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Sun rules the 12th house of retreat and expense, so its results show up in private, in rest and in what you let go of rather than in public.

What to do. Share decisions rather than leading every one, and thank your partner for what they carry.

Jupiter in the Navamsa (D9)

Navamsa (D9) · Capricorn · house 11

In the Navamsa (D9), Jupiter falls in house 11 of that chart, a lens on the maturing of a promise, especially in partnership and in the second half of life. Jupiter moves from Scorpio in the birth chart to Capricorn in the Navamsa (D9), debilitated. That is a pressure point to handle with care, and the practical steps below matter more here.

What to do. Take up a shared learning or service project as a couple.

Compatibility & Connection

How do you connect emotionally and intellectually with a partner?

This chapter reads Moon (Leo, house 12), Jupiter (Scorpio, house 3), Mercury (Aquarius, house 6) and your 3rd lord Mars (Cancer, house 11).

Moon, significator of emotional bonding and home life

Moon · Leo · House 12 · 4.3° · in a friendly sign

The Moon describes your emotional needs, receptivity and the mood of a shared home. In your chart Moon stands in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so its influence works quietly, in private and often at a distance.

Moon is in Leo, a friendly sign ruled by Sun, so it works with reasonable ease. Leo holds 22 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (below average), so this area needs patience and conscious effort. Moon's Shadbala ratio is 0.79 against the required 1.00, so its results arrive more slowly and do best with support from other planets. Mercury and Saturn aspect it by graha drishti, which is evenly balanced between support and pressure. Moon rules the 11th house.

What to do. Name your emotional needs out loud and ask for your partner's; a weekly check-in works well.

Jupiter, significator of marriage, blessing and wisdom

Jupiter · Scorpio · House 3 · 21.1° · in a friendly sign

Jupiter is the natural significator of marriage, blessing, wisdom and commitment. In your chart Jupiter stands in the 3rd house of courage, skills, siblings and communication, so its influence responds to effort, conversation and courage.

Jupiter is a natural benefic ruling the 4th and 7th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house. Scorpio holds 29 Ashtakavarga points (about average) and Jupiter's Shadbala ratio is 1.13.

What to do. Take up a shared learning or service project as a couple.

Mercury, significator of communication and understanding

Mercury · Aquarius · House 6 · 6.4° · in a neutral sign

Mercury governs conversation, humour and how well you and a partner understand each other. In your chart Mercury stands in the 6th house of work routine, service, health and obstacles, so its gifts are earned through effort, service and patience with small frictions.

Mercury is a natural benefic ruling the 1st and 10th (angular) houses; tradition treats this as a mixed lordship, because the gentleness of the planet is reduced by the weight of a pivot house. Aquarius holds 25 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Mercury's Shadbala ratio is 0.68.

What to do. Keep humour in daily talk and settle practical questions in writing.

Lord of your 3rd house: Mars in the 11th

Mars · Cancer · House 11 · 20.0° · debilitated · retrograde

Mars rules Scorpio and so speaks for your 3rd house: the courage you bring to courtship. Mars sits in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims. The courage you bring to courtship is tied to your circle, your resources and the fulfilment of your aims, and tends to improve as that circle and those means grow.

Mars is debilitated in Cancer, which weakens its natural ease: results come through effort and improve when other factors in the chart support it. The weakness is partly cancelled (neecha bhanga) because Moon, the ruler of Cancer, stands in an angular position. Mars is retrograde, so its themes turn inward and are revisited before they settle. Cancer holds 27 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.27 against the required 1.00, so it has the strength to deliver its results. Jupiter and Venus aspect it by graha drishti, which is more supportive than testing. Mars rules the 3rd and 8th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation.

What to do. Agree a fair way to argue: pause when heated, return within a day and never reopen old grievances.

Lord of your 11th house: Moon in the 12th

Moon · Leo · House 12 · 4.3° · in a friendly sign

Moon rules Cancer and so speaks for your 11th house: the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner. Moon sits in the 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, so the fulfilment of your hopes for a partner is connected with withdrawal, expense and distance. Energy flows outward here; results improve when you protect your resources and make room for privacy and rest.

Moon rules the 11th house. Leo holds 22 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Moon's Shadbala ratio is 0.79.

What to do. Build a few calm shared rituals at home, such as a regular meal together.

Intimacy & Emotional Connection

What does your chart say about intimacy, trust and emotional depth?

This chapter reads your 8th lord Mars (Cancer, house 11), your 8th house (Aries) and your 12th lord Sun (Pisces, house 7).

Lord of your 8th house: Mars in the 11th

Mars · Cancer · House 11 · 20.0° · debilitated · retrograde

Mars rules Aries and so speaks for your 8th house: the depth of intimacy and trust. Because Mars occupies the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, the depth of intimacy and trust is linked to your network and your gains. It benefits from practical planning and from supportive people around you.

Mars rules the 3rd and 8th houses, so its results come through effort, and they respond well to patience and organisation. Cancer holds 27 Ashtakavarga points (about average) and Mars's Shadbala ratio is 1.27.

What to do. Channel surplus energy into exercise or a shared project rather than into friction.

Mars, significator of desire and drive

Mars · Cancer · House 11 · 20.0° · debilitated · retrograde

Mars governs desire, drive and how disagreements are handled, and it is the planet checked for Manglik influence. In your chart Mars stands in the 11th house of gains, friends, networks and fulfilled aims, so its influence is linked with resources, friends and the fulfilment of aims.

Your 8th house: Aries

With Sun in the 7th house of partnership, marriage and public dealings, the sacrifice a relationship asks for is linked to a pivot of your chart. The area carries weight in daily decisions and tends to show clear results, for good or for effort.

Sun rules the 12th house of retreat and expense, so its results show up in private, in rest and in what you let go of rather than in public. Pisces holds 19 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Sun's Shadbala ratio is 1.14.

What to do. Give a partner credit in front of others and let them lead sometimes.

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) in your 8th house

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) · Aries · House 8 · 12.6°

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) sits in Aries in your 8th house of change, research, shared resources and the hidden, which governs the depth of intimacy and trust. Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) brings detachment, a sense of past-life familiarity and a need for depth over display. A shadow planet here amplifies the area in unusual ways and is read through the planet that rules its sign.

Descending Lunar Node (Dragon's Tail) is a shadow planet in Aries and Mars stands in the 11th house, so it behaves like Mars and is read through that planet's condition. Aries holds 29 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (about average), so the sign gives steady, unremarkable support. Saturn and Ascending Lunar Node (Dragon's Head) aspect it by graha drishti, which is more testing than supportive.

What to do. Make room for quiet time together, and say aloud when you need space so it is not read as distance.

Moon in your 12th house

Moon · Leo · House 12 · 4.3° · in a friendly sign

Moon sits in Leo in your 12th house of retreat, expenses, foreign places and the inner life, which governs the sacrifice a relationship asks for. The Moon describes your emotional needs, receptivity and the mood of a shared home. A benefic here tends to protect and soften this area.

Influences on your 7th house

House 7 · 1 occupant · 1 aspect

Sun sits in the house itself: the Sun adds pride, authority and a need to be recognised. Jupiter aspects it from the 3rd house (its 5th aspect): Jupiter adds protection, generosity and a wider perspective. Taken together, 1 supportive and 1 testing influences act on the partnership at the heart of marriage: supportive and testing influences balance, so the house gives mixed but workable results.

Lord of your 6th house: Saturn in the 6th

Saturn · Aquarius · House 6 · 22.3° · in its own sign

Saturn rules Aquarius and so speaks for your 6th house: the day-to-day work of a relationship. With the lord of the 6th house sitting in the house it rules, the day-to-day work of a relationship gets undiluted attention. Results here follow Saturn's own character rather than being redirected through another area of life.

Tradition reads the lord of a house of difficulty standing in a house of difficulty as protective (vipareeta): the trouble is absorbed where it belongs instead of spreading into the rest of life.

Saturn rules the 5th and 6th houses: a supportive trikona mixed with a house of change or effort, so gains come with some transformation. Aquarius holds 25 Ashtakavarga points (below average) and Saturn's Shadbala ratio is 1.12.

Libra holds 34 Ashtakavarga points against an average of 28 (above average), so the sign supports this planet generously. What to do. Check an intense attraction against steady evidence of character, and give it time before you commit.
